

[ABSTRACT]

[Objects]

In order to delete the unnecessary work, the same CCD light sensor is used for pictures of strip film and slide mount.

[Components]

The first opening for insertion of strip film, the second opening for the film that is carrying from the first opening to exit, the third opening is for the insertion of the slide mount which is located at the direction vertical to the direction the strip film is moved. The first and the second opening are located at two sides of the main body, the third opening is located at the front part of the body.